“IF YOU DON’T GIVE THE MARKET THE STORY TO TALK ABOUT, THEY’LL DEFINE YOUR BRAND’S STORY FOR YOU.”

- DAVID BRIER

We understand that content is the name of the game these days, and we want to help your agency create and do more for your clients, all while eliminating the stress of planning and executing the productions.

It’s not enough to create “cool” looking content anymore. Potential clients/customers want to engage with the content, and for that, you’re going to need more than just a high quality camera. We’re people-first creatives that happen to conduct awesome productions with our clients. Our aim is help every client we work with to engage more with their target audience, and ultimately, sell more.

HOW OUR PACKAGES WORK

We offer 3 comprehensive packages for your clients to work with; all designed to cater to every need-level of content creation.

Each production consists of our team working with your clients to create both photos and videos. Before each production day, we have a meeting with your team (client included if you desire), to iron out the details of the production day. The goal of this pre-production meeting is for everyone to walkaway with a clear-cut direction on the content that needs to be created. This helps your client, and your team, to be fully involved, or not, in the planning process as much as you'd like. Not to mention, it helps the production day run smoothly as possible.

Once we've wrapped on production, we go into post-production (arguably where all the magic happens). Our goal here is to create up to a months worth of micro content for our clients. Micro content includes, but is not limited to, the finished videos/photos, behind the scenes images of the production itself, graphics, and paid-ad graphics as well.

After post-production is complete, it's off to the races!
